

MISS Amazing

Ambassador Toolkit

Opening doors of opportunity. Together.

Ten percent of women worldwide have a disability, yet they remain one of the world's most marginalized groups of people. Girls and women with disabilities regularly face a harmful double-dose of stereotypes associated with two parts of their identity: being female and having a disability.

As a result of these widely held myths about their value, girls and women with disabilities are more likely to face gender-based violence than women without disabilities and are half as likely to be employed than men with disabilities. Consequentially, our communities miss out on the contributions that girls and women with disabilities are fully capable of offering.

As a Miss Amazing Ambassador, you're helping us change this reality.

Thank you for joining our team.

Your Goals

As a Miss Amazing Ambassador, you will make your community a more inclusive place by taking these important actions:

Inform

It means a lot to have you stand by our work. By sharing Miss Amazing updates and stories with your social network, you'll shine a spotlight on girls and women with disabilities and grow the Miss Amazing community. We ask that all ambassadors share a Miss Amazing related post once a month.

Fundraise

We've accomplished a lot, but there's still so much to do. Every dollar helps us make our existing programs even better and bring new programs to life.

Connect

As one of our most dedicated supporters, we'll trust you to speak on behalf of Miss Amazing in meetings with potential sponsors and community partners. Your director might invite you to a meeting, or you can volunteer to present to a potential partner.

Levels of Influence

Each step of the way, you'll be recognized for your dedication to Miss Amazing's mission with exclusive opportunities to grow as a philanthropist and influencer.

Initiation 100 points	Change Maker 5,000 points	Peace Maker 10,000 points	Decision Maker 20,000 points

Secret Benchmark Gifts

As you work your way towards becoming a Decision Maker, you'll receive bonus gifts in the mail as a token of our appreciation! Who knows which benchmark will unlock your next prize?

crossroads

conference

Crossroads unites trailblazing advocates for gender equality and disability rights (that's you!), sparking a much-needed conversation about the challenges that women with and without disabilities share and inviting everyone to collaborate on solutions. The conference's hands-on sessions address topics ranging from employment and economic development to media representation, ultimately empowering attendees to collaborate on an action-plan and return to their communities with bold ideas for innovation and inclusion.

Miss Amazing invites people of all genders, ages and abilities to join us at Crossroads. Learn more about the next Crossroads Conference through the link below.

Make a Presentation

1 presentation = 10 points

Are you a member of a company or community organization that could potentially partner with Miss Amazing? We're always looking for creative ways to work with schools, churches, sororities, dance studios, Girl Scout troops, and local companies, and you could help us get our foot in the door!

Step 1

Email your director to confirm and coordinate presentations.

Step 2

View our official introductory presentation and download presenter notes below.

Step 3

Practice the presentation so that you're prepared and confident.

Step 4

After the presentation, update your director and connect the potential partner with the correct Miss Amazing representatives for the next steps.

Refer an Ambassador

1 initiated ambassador = 20 points

Are your friends also passionate about gender equality and disability rights? Tell them about our ambassador program, and you could make the world a better place together!

Just direct your friends to the ambassador application and ask them to mention in the application that you referred them. As soon as the ambassador you referred has reached the "Initiation" level, you can add 20 points to your point tracker!

Let's do this!

Today marks the beginning of our partnership. We can change the world for the better as long as we're in it together. Thank you for stepping up and leading by example.
